

Sonoma County Conservation Action Report Card 2004 – 2005

Page 1 of 2

Official's Name	Envr. Voting	Listens to Citizens?	Ratings are for Summer 2003 – Summer 2004. All ratings are opinions of SCCA, which is solely responsible for the contents of this report.
BOARD OF SUPERVISORS
Valerie Brown	C-	D	Supervisor duties compromised by lobbying contracts, support of Kenwood resort was disappointing. OK on groundwater. Inaccessible to her constituents.
Paul Kelley	F	F	Actively solicits and supports policies that are destructive to the environment. Contemptuous of environmentalists and grassroots organizing.
Mike Kerns	F	D+	Will meet with environmentalists, but does not support our issues. Continues to disappoint on support for Lafferty and Sonoma Mountain parks, despite creative solutions.
Mike Reilly	A	A	The environmental leader on the Board of Supervisors. Available and receptive to input from the environmental community. Holds local forums.
Tim Smith	C+	D	Strong on rail startup, but lacking on gravel mining and development issues. Not always open to citizen input.
CLOVERDALE CITY COUNCIL
Mary Ann Brigham	A-	B	Almost always on the right side of environmental issues. Not as available for citizen input as she used to be.
Bob Jehn	B-	B+	Shows concern for some environmental issues, but is too supportive of the gravel mining in the Russian River. Good on rail startup, open to public input.
Mike Nixon	B-	B	Shows interest in some environmental initiatives. Is a good listener.
Gail Pardini-Plass	C-	C	Not very conscious of environmental issue, but showing improvement.
Gus Wolter	B-	B	Leans towards pro-environmental positions, but often sides with development interests. Is approachable and will listen to environmentalists.
COTATI CITY COUNCIL
Harold Berkemeier	F	F	Generally pro-development. Not open to or respectful of citizen input.
Pat Gilardi	C-	C-	Generally good on development related issues.	These four council-members previously had higher grades; the current grades reflect their moving forward with the Lowe's superstore, and failure to adopt a CIR process
Janet Kurvers	C+	C+	Good record on environmental issues. Good record of listening to citizen input.
Lisa Moore	C	C	Generally good environmental voting. Open to citizen input, somewhat timid on environmental leadership.
Janet Orchard	B-	B-	Overall a solid vote for the environment. Listens to citizen input.
HEALDSBURG CITY COUCIL
Mark Gleason	D	D-	Ill-informed on environmental issues. Shows lack of interest in citizen communication.
Leah Gold	A	A	Solid environmental voting record. Open and responsive to citizen input.
Jason Liles	B	A-	Good environmental voting record. Exhibits genuine interest in citizen input.
Kent Mitchell	B-	C+	Generally on the side of environmental issues. Creates distance with citizens by abstaining on too many votes.
Lisa Schaffner	D-	C-	Typically opposes environmental positions. Will listen, but is not responsive to citizen input.
PETALUMA CITY COUNCIL
Keith Canevaro	C-	C	On leave from council for service in Marines, may return.
David Glass	A	A	A proven environmental voting record. Listens to and encourages citizen input.
Mike Harris	F	D	Another anti-environmentalist. Not responsive to environmental input.
Mike Healy	C	C	Plays both sides, occasionally an environmental vote. Good on Lafferty.
Bryant Moynihan	F	F	Has shown little respect for any side, and is frequently hostile to public. He has realized he has no constituency.
Mike O'Brien	D-	D	Reliably votes against the environment on all key issues facing the city, notably against opening Lafferty. Inaccessible to most citizens's input.
Clark Thompson	D-	C+	A fairly consistent vote for poor environmental policies. Accessible to public, but unresponsive to environmental interest. Lafferty flip-flop is inexcusable.
Pamela Torliatt	A	A	Strong environmental leader who can always be counted on to vote the right way. Always listens to and encourages citizen input.

Copyright 2004 Sonoma County Conservation Action. All rights reserved.

Scores may not be re-published without prior written consent from SCCA.

Sonoma County Conservation Action Report Card 2004 – 2005

Page 2 of 2

ROHNERT PARK CITY COUNCIL
Armando Flores	F	F	A wholly owned subsidiary of development interests. Consistently ignores citizens.
Jake Mackenzie	A	A	Displays guts, vision, and commitment for the environment. Listens wholeheartedly to citizen input.
Greg Nordin	F	D-	Frequently disregards the environment at the expense of his loyalty to development interests. Does not listen to citizen input.
Vicki Vidak-Martinez	D	C-	Often puts development interests as her top priority to the exclusion of any environmental concerns. Has been particularly rude to public input.
Amie Spradlin	F	F	Follows the lead of Armando Flores, and offers little input on any issue.
SANTA ROSA CITY COUNCIL
Bob Blanchard	D-	C	Has prioritized developer interests. Not particularly receptive to citizen input.
Jane Bender	C	B-	Has shown some genuine concern for some environmental issues. She is responsive to some environmental input. She is visible in the community.
Janet Condron	C-	D+	Usually sides with Chamber of Commerce, but occasionally can be persuaded to consider environmental issues. Seems less than enthusiastic about her Council service.
Noreen Evans	A	A	Takes the lead on many environmental issues. Goes the extra mile for citizens. Current Democratic nominee for State Assembly.
Mike Martini	F	C	Has worked to undue environmental standards. Development community has undue influence over his decisions.
Steve Rabinowitsh	A	A	Works to build bridges on a non environmental council. He is caring and approachable towards citizens. Took leadership role on Santa Rosa creek restoration.
Sharon Wright	F	D	Does not show any concern for the environment, nor capacity in listening to citizen input.
SEBASTOPOL CITY COUNCIL
Robert Anderson	D	D	His vote may be affected by his own developer interests. Has resigned from council.
Sarah Gurney	N/A	N/A	Newly appointed to Council. Early indications are strong for the environment.
Linda Kelley	A	A	Takes a leadership position on all environmental issues while researching new ideas. Listens and participates in discussions with constituents.
Craig Litwin	A	A-	A dedicated environmentalist with a solid environmental vote. He is responsive and respectful of citizen input.
Larry Robinson	A-	B+	Consistently votes the right way. Listens to and communicates well with citizens.
Sam Spooner	A-	B+	Supports progressive, environmental issues. He actively solicits and responds well to citizen input.
SONOMA CITY COUNCIL
Dick Ashford	B	B+	Generally good on environmental votes, positive on H2O conservation & zerascape, disappointing on Lafferty support. He is very accessible to citizens.
Joe Costello	A	A	Solid environmental record. He bases decisions on citizen input.
Larry Barnett	A	B	Proactive on environmental issues. He is responsive to citizen input.
Ken Brown	A	A	A very strong environmental record. Listens well to citizen input.
Doug McKesson	B	B-	A good vote on environmental issues. A good listener.
WINDSOR TOWN COUNCIL
Steve Allen	C-	C	Opposes many environmental positions and is not receptive to citizen input.
Debora Fudge	A	A	Strong record of leadership on environmental issues. Reaches out to constituents for ideas.
Lynn Morehouse	B-	B-	Generally supports environmental positions, but is inconsistent. Open to citizen input.
Sam Salmon	A	A	Strong environmental voting record. Very open to citizen input.
Steve Scott	C	B-	He has a mixed record on environmental voting, but seems interested in listening to citizens.

Copyright 2004 Sonoma County Conservation Action. All rights reserved.

Scores may not be re-published without prior written consent from SCCA.